

How do I trade using daily weekly and monthly charts?

Use daily candlestick charts

- going back a few weeks to find entry and exit points for swing trades of a few days or more.
- Look for classic price reversal or continuation patterns and formations.

Use weekly charts

- to find entry and exit points for intermediate-term trades of a few weeks or months.

Use monthly charts

- to determine the general market trend and where you are in the overall market cycle.

